In the foreground, there are tables set with white linens, glassware, and large floral centerpieces featuring white and orange flowers. A potted tree is visible on the right side of the terrace. The background shows a cityscape with modern buildings and a body of water.

"Thank you for absolutely everything over the last few months. Our wedding was so perfect and it went exactly how we had imagined. We have had so many people ring and message us about the venue and staff. The food was out of this world. The barmen were incredibly nice and everything was so quick. Matthew really was fantastic, nothing was too big or too small and was there whenever I looked around."
